

Are Near On Price Control

Also Apply to Wages in Step To Bring About Stabilization

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—The government will order a general price and wage freeze within the next five or six days, a high-level government source reported today.

A roll-back of prices to Jan. 1 levels is under consideration, this official said.

The decision was attributed to Charles E. Wilson, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization. He reportedly is convinced that neither voluntary nor piece-meal controls can stem the inflationary surge.

Economic Stabilization Administrator Alan Valentine was reported ready to carry out the across-the-board ceiling orders, despite ESA's lack of enforcement machinery and staff.

There had been earlier predictions that price-wage controls would be applied whenever the ESA mustered a staff able to handle the regulations.

These predictions were bulwarked by the rise in food prices to the highest point in American history.

Staff Being Secured
The ESA has been making progress toward gathering a staff to handle controls.

Valentine two weeks ago spiked a proposal by his price stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle, for a temporary, 30-day price freeze on grounds the agency lacked the manpower and field organization to police adjustments, violation cases, and "hardship" appeals.

Details of the contemplated freeze were not divulged—whether a temporary affair such as DiSalle suggested, or a more permanent arrangement.

Also in question was the manner of applying the freeze: Whether to impose a flat ceiling on a restraint on profit margins similar to the voluntary "fair standards" system now in effect in the retail, and wholesale fields.

Wilson and his top assistants met with Valentine and other agency heads concerned this morning on the problem. There reportedly was general agreement with Wilson that speedy action must be taken.

Another conference was being held at ESA, it was learned.

Endorse Drafting Of 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—Two noted educators, testifying in the face of much Senate opposition, strongly endorsed today the proposal to draft 18-year-olds into the armed forces.

Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton university, and Karl T. Compton, chairman of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, both urged Congress to enact immediately the universal military service and training program proposed by the defense department.

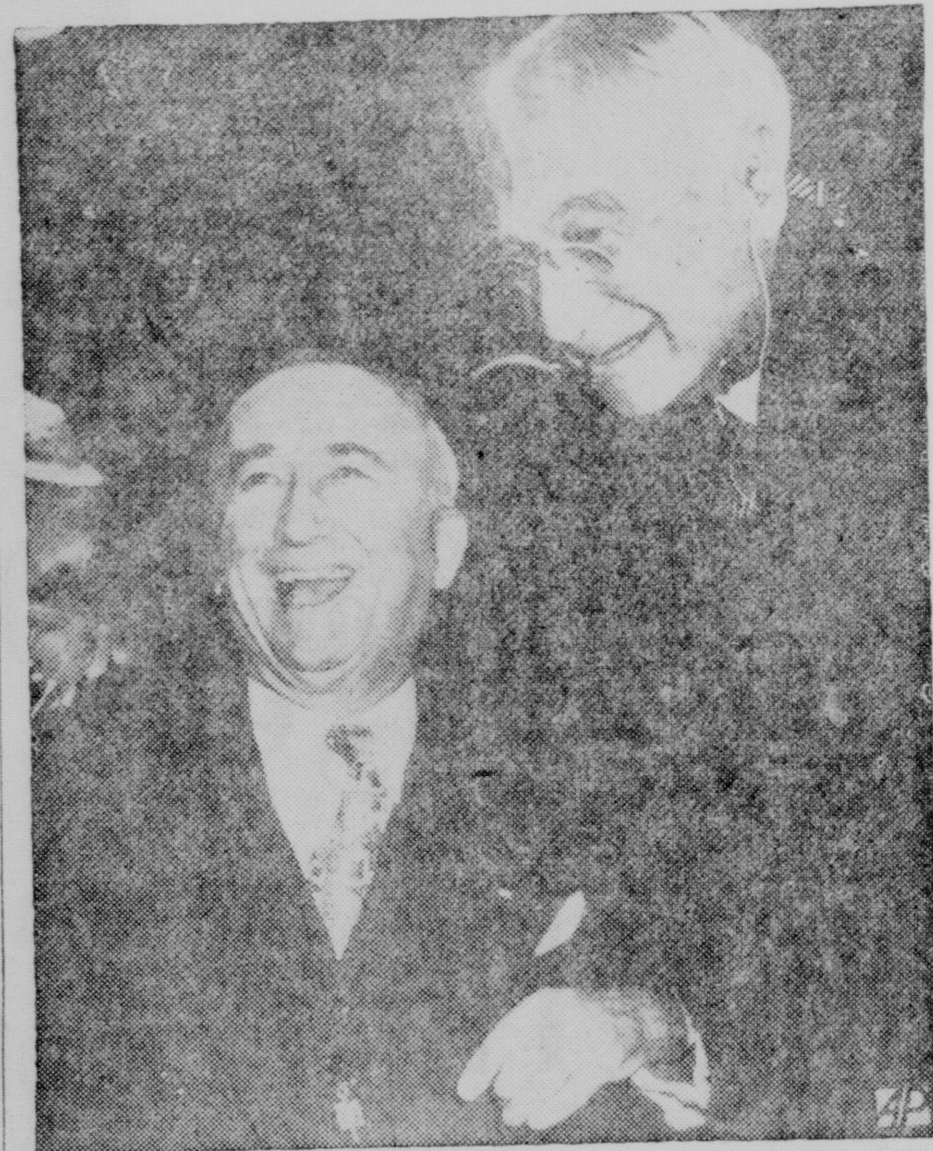

"I favor it beyond all other proposals I have seen, or have been able to dream up," Dodds told the Senate Republican committee at a public hearing.

Compton, who also urged some kind of compulsory non-military service for young men unable to meet military qualifications, challenged senators to produce a better plan.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), who has aimed sharp questions at witnesses advocating the plan, announced 50 witnesses are clamoring to be heard on the subject within the next couple of weeks.

In a statement, Johnson emphasized that neither he nor the subcommittee as a whole had made any decisions yet.

Reject Latest Proposal on Cease Fire

Counter Ones Are Presented From Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson announced today that the Chinese Communist counter-proposal for a Korean settlement "is unacceptable to the United States government."

Acheson issued this statement through his press office: "The Chinese Communist answer as reported in the press is a complete rejection of the United Nations cease fire proposal of January 13. The reported counter-proposal is unacceptable to the United States government and, I have no doubt, will be to the United Nations generally."

LONDON, Jan. 17—(AP)—Communist China tonight rejected the latest United Nations cease-fire proposal for Korea and offered a set of counter-proposals, a Peiping broadcast announced tonight.

The counter-proposals include a suggestion for a seven-nation conference, including Communist China, the Soviet Union, the U. S., Britain, France, India and Egypt.

The Chinese Reds demanded that the U. S. withdraw all military and naval units from the Formosa area. The island is the last stronghold of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government. At the time of the Korean outbreak President Truman sent U. S. naval units to neutralize the island and prevent the spread of the conflict.

The Chinese proposed that representatives of these nations meet on Chinese territory.

The broadcast, recorded here by Teleradio, listed these counter-proposals: (A) Negotiations among the nations concerned must be conducted on the basis of the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea. Internal affairs of Korea must be settled by the Korean people themselves.

(B) Any discussions must include withdrawal of United States troops from Formosa as well as withdrawal from Formosa Strait. (While American warships are in Formosa Strait, the United States has said it has no troops on Formosa itself).

(C) Nations taking part in the negotiations must be Communist China, Russia, Britain, the United States, France, India and Egypt. The "legitimate status" of Communist China in the United Nations must be established.

Nationalists Held Seats
China's U. N. seats now are held by the Nationalists. The Chinese Reds have demanded those seats.

Feelings of Taxpayers Are Bitter Against Stalin

By DeWitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Western Europe's reaction to America's proposed military budget is one of near stupefaction at its magnitude, but as yet there is no indication of how it affects the quarter in which we are most interested—the Moscow Kremlin.

Having pushed us into this mountainous project, just what does Marshal Stalin think about it? Apropos of this the London evening Star (Liberal) says the feelings "are so colossal that the mind is stunned," and it adds:

Lloyd Parker, chairman of the Lions Club basketball tournament called attention to the tournament which is to start Tuesday night of next week. The tournament will last through Saturday night.

Sixteen teams are to be entered, Parker reported to the club. Four games to be played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and two games on Friday and Saturday nights.

Dr. David Robinson reported on the Lincoln (Mo) Lions club which was chartered last Monday night at which meeting several members of the Sedalia club were present.

Guests today were Jerry Dawson, Kansas City, of John Pelham, Ray Klein, Sedalia of Dr. Robinson, and Dan Robinson of Fred A. Kueck.

Malachi O'Brien was introduced as a new member of the club.

Bill to Ease Farmers' Tax

Would Change the Assessment Plan as Applied to Grains

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17—(AP)—A bill to give farmers a break on their personal property taxes was introduced in the Missouri House today by Rep. Cecil Taylor (D) of Shelby county.

It would take care of a situation that aroused the farmers two years ago. Under a change in the assessment laws property had to be listed between January and June each year. That caught a lot of farmers with corn and other field crops they either planned to use for seed or feed.

They squawked when they found it must be assessed at full value because before that they had it used before the assessor came around.

Last session Taylor, chairman of the taxation committee, offered a bill to eliminate any assessment of such grains. It was killed because there was doubt it was constitutional.

The bill he offered today would list such grains as a special class which could be assessed at only one-tenth actual value.

Two other bills offered today would meet welfare recommendations of Gov. Forrest Smith. One would hike the property allowance of old age assistance recipients.

Return to Oklahoma for W. E. Cook

Death Penalty be Sought For the Suspected Killer

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 17—(AP)—William E. Cook, accused kidnaper and suspected slayer of eight persons will be returned to Oklahoma from here to be prosecuted on federal kidnapping charges.

The Department of Justice in Washington announced last night that Cook, 23-year-old ex-convict captured in Mexico after a two-week international manhunt, will be tried on a charge of kidnapping the Carl Mosser family at Atwood, Ill.

The federal charge, known as the Lindberg law carries a possible death penalty.

U. S. Attorney Ernest Tolin, at Los Angeles, said he had agreed to the transfer of custody and was merely awaiting the warrant for Cook's return to Oklahoma.

Cook also has been sought by police in Joplin, Mo., where the five bodies of the Mosser family were recovered from a mine shaft. The Mossers, all of whom had been shot, are suspected victims of Cook.

He also has been charged in California with the murder Jan. 6 of a Seattle salesman, Robert Dewey. A California sheriff's deputy said Cook also had talked of slaying two other persons in Oklahoma.

Cook is in isolation in a lone upper-floor cell at the county jail where he was taken following his deportation from Mexico Monday and his arraignment here on federal charges of kidnapping flight to avoid prosecution for murder and robbery.

Sheriff Ubert Strand said Cook's attitude is one of moodiness or indifference. "He is not cooperative, but he hasn't given us any trouble," he said.

The Mossers dropped from sight last month while en route from Illinois to New Mexico. Their blood-stained automobile was found in Oklahoma Jan. 3.

Cook has denied he ever killed anyone and said he didn't even know the Mosser family. He told newsmen he got drunk Christmas night and "might have been anywhere after that."

To Seek Death Penalty
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 17—(AP)—William E. Cook will be returned here to be tried on a charge of kidnapping an Atwood, Ill., family of five and the death penalty probably will be sought.

Robert E. Shelton, U. S. attorney for Oklahoma, made that statement about the 23-year-old "mad dog killer" yesterday and added:

"I think we have done everything possible to get him. This is where the most heinous crime was committed, and is the best place to try him."

The bodies of the Carl Mosser family were found Monday at Joplin, Mo.

Shelton said the U. S. district

Bombers to Try Non-stop Flight

LAKENHEATEN, England, Jan. 17—(AP)—Six of America's biggest bombers — the B-36 capable of carrying the atom bomb 10,000 miles — will attempt to fly nonstop back to their base in Texas.

The ten-engined giants touched down at this royal air force base yesterday, accompanied by three DC-124's, the second biggest cargo carrier of the U. S. air force.

Air force officials took a crowd of newsmen and photographers on a closely guarded tour of the giants today as they rested on the concrete apron beside B-29's and B-50's already stationed here.

Meteor jets kept up a constant air patrol over them.

The flight of six bombers, the first to appear in the air over Europe, was accomplished without a hitch, crew members said.

The trip was commanded by Col. I. P. Gerrity of Chicago.

Commenting, in reply to a reporter's question, on the coincidence of the big plane's arrival and the current effort of the North Atlantic treaty powers to gird themselves for defense, Col. Gerrity said:

"It certainly let's our friends know we are not asleep."

The colonel said the planes would not make any flights to the continent on the way back.

"I don't think," he said, "the state department would let us. That would be flexing our muscles a bit too much."

Wholesale Food Prices Little Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—(AP)—Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index, edged a little higher this week but were still slightly below the record level of 2½ years ago.

At $7.04, the index was two cents above last week and 22.4 per cent above the year ago week's $5.75. The record high was $7.36 on July 13, 1948.

The index has climbed more than 18 per cent since just before the Korean war began when it was $5.96. And it has not posted even a minor downturn since early last October.

The index figure represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Express Favor To Views of Gov. Byrnes

Hold it Not be Wise to Have 'Our Army Divided'

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—The call by Gov. James F. Byrnes for concentration of American forces on a first line of defense in Europe won approval today of congressional Democrats who divided over his domestic views.

Southerners and "fair dealers" who commented on Byrnes' inaugural address yesterday as governor of South Carolina found common ground in the former secretary of state's assertion that "It is not wise to have our army divided between Korea and Europe."

Senator Brewster of Maine voiced one Republican viewpoint when he said Byrnes had "made a great contribution to public thinking."

Senator George (D-Ga.) said he believes Byrnes "is entirely right about the European situation." This does not mean, George added, the abandonment of the Far East to Communism.

George also applauded, as did Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), Byrnes' call for an immediate price-wage freeze. Byrnes served during World War II as war mobilization director.

However, Humphrey and George parted company on Byrnes' expressed hope that the Supreme Court will turn down appeals in cases which seek to abolish race segregation in the south.

Humphrey, a strong supporter of the "fair deal," recently urged President Truman to set up by executive order a fair employment practices commission (FEPC).

Boy Five Fatally Shot His Mother

CROMWELL, Okla., Jan. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Orr's five-year-old son, Larry, accidentally shot and killed his mother yesterday and then called the telephone operator here and cried:

"Please help me, I shot my mother."

Seminole County Attorney Tom Smith said the boy thought the gun was unloaded.

Mrs. Vinita Hardwick, the chief operator, couldn't understand Larry and referred the call to Mrs. Margaret Wysor, the evening chief operator.

Mrs. Wysor also was unable to understand him and gave the call to Cisie Herwig, an operator. She telephoned mayor Roy Devero and then called the telephone operator here and cried:

"Please help me, I shot my mother."

Frank Orr, the husband and father, works for the Oklahoma highway department. There are three other children in the family, who lives a mile south of here.

Mrs. Orr was 33.

MOBERLY, Mo., Jan. 17—(AP)—Two men were held today in the $500 robbery of the Moberly Hatchery company.

The men, booked as James Allen, 21, and Bernard Wegs, 19, were picked up by the state highway patrol yesterday an hour and a half after the robbery. They were caught near Madison, Mo., after the patrol had set up road blocks in a 50 mile radius of Moberly.

Police said both men denied participation in the robbery. They insisted that the $200 in cash found hidden in their car belonged to them.

Both had been working recently at Rock Island, Ill.

Eisenhower in Portugal Visit

Premier Anxious Spain be in the Atlantic Pact

By Preston Grover

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 17—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower inspected the southeast extremity of his European zone of defense against communism today and found only a limited fighting force.

Like some other countries he has visited in his tour of the Atlantic pact nations, Portugal was able to give the supreme commander reasons for not doing very much. Here the reason was Spain.

Portuguese observers explained that Portugal will not be able to take a very active part in Western Europe's defense unless Spain is brought into the Atlantic arms system.

Eisenhower called on Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, 16-year-old Portuguese politician who has been a virtual dictator for 20 years. They talked through interpreters in a 45-minute conference.

Before beginning his day the American commander went out for some photography of his own. He carries a small twin lens camera.

"This is the first time I have seen the sun since I started on this trip," Eisenhower said, commenting on Portugal's famous weather.

Indicates Friendliness
At the defense conference Eisenhower seemed certain to hear why Portugal is not inclined at the moment to step into a heavy military program. The country has indicated friendliness to America by allowing the U. S. air force continued use of an air base on Terceira island in the Azores, so useful during the last war as an anti-submarine patrol base. It was also used as a refueling base for Allied submarines, and probably would be used again in another war.

Salazar repeatedly urged the West to recognize Spain formally and bring it into the Atlantic pact. The Portuguese contention is that Spain has the only army which could guard the Pyrenees if Germany and France were overrun. Portuguese military leaders argue that unless Spain is given assistance in building up a useful army, there is no sense in Portugal doing anything.

This country now has a regular army of between 10,000 and 15,000 men and about 30,000 men are called up each year for 18 months training. Alone, Portugal would be in a hopeless defense position, with a long seacoast on the west and a long frontier with Spain on the east.

The Catholic paper Novidades dwelt on the Spanish question in today's editorial, stating "cooperation of all nations of Western Europe."

Now Plan to Split Up Bill

Republicans to Oppose Single One on Budget

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—Republican members of the House appropriations committee claimed enough Democratic support today to prevent lumping the federal budget in a single bill.

Rep. Taber of New York, senior Republican on the committee, said the 20 GOP members have agreed informally to oppose the one-package appropriations plan this year.

"Most Republicans will oppose it," Taber said in an interview. "We need about six or seven Democrats and I think we will have enough votes."

Committee Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) chief sponsor of the one-package bill which was tried last year for the first time in modern history, would concede nothing.

"If they want to kill it and they have the votes it will be their responsibility," Cannon said. "I do not know whether they have the votes or not. It seems strange to me, though, that the Republicans, who had claimed the one-package bill was the best way for Congress to retain control over federal spending, should now lead the fight to kill it."

A decision on the proposal may come next Monday when the appropriations committee of 30 Democrats and 20 Republicans holds its first meeting of the new Congress. The committee did not vote on the one-package plan last year but accepted Cannon's decision that appropriations would be handled in a single measure instead of in a dozen departmental bills as in the past years.

"It was not a good idea in the first place and it has not worked out," Taber said. "It has prevented bigger reductions in appropriations than would have been possible in the budget of each department had been handled separately."

Cannon, on the other hand, said Congress saved several billion dollars last year by handling all appropriations in one bill. He said it would be "a backward step" to return to the old system.

A group of Democrats who head Senate committees recently expressed general dislike of the one-package plan, whose chief Senate sponsor has been Senator Byrd (D-Va.).

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Jan. 17—(AP)—A United Nations medical aid station has been under fire so often that 12 of its crew wear purple hearts and all 16 have been recommended for medals.

Capt. Robert L. Devine, 29, of San Antonio, Tex., battalion surgeon, said his station has been under direct attack six times, and all his men are seasoned fighters.

The sixth fight occurred recently when the aid station was hidden in a small valley near Wonju.

"An infantry runner told us there was a gang of Reds coming," said Sgt. Gerald Swift, 24, of 536 South 49th avenue, Tulsa, Okla., "and we knew he had to fight."

The medics were treating frostbite cases. They routed their patients out into a defense perimeter.

The first wave of North Korean Communists went down under accurate fire from the "cripples and non-combatants," a sergeant related.

But the Reds regrouped and attacked again.

St. Francis L. Mutton, 21, of Spokane, Wash., and Second Lt. Edmond A. Rhodes, of Enid, Okla., got several patients under cover and then were pinned down by enemy fire.

"Our men piled them up in heaps," said Rhodes.

When three North Koreans were wounded, the medics treated them under fire.

"The wounded Reds were the only lucky ones," said Sgt. Leo G. Ill, 19, of Teutopolis, Ill. "We killed every one of the others. Not one of them got away."

Buyers Rush to Big Markets

Ordering in Men's Wear And Other Goods is Strong

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—(AP)—Retail store buyers are flocking to the markets in New York and Chicago. Manufacturers in many lines of consumer goods report with pleasure that the surge of shoppers into the stores this month has set merchants to re-ordering from their suppliers.

Three times as many buyers arrived last week as in the first week of January, the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., reports.

Women's coat and suit sales are advancing smartly, the council says. Winter goods are being re-ordered and buying of spring merchandise has perked up. An upturn in demand for other ready-to-wear garments of wool and cotton is also noted.

Some women's coat makers say they have booked more orders for winter garments the first two weeks in January than they did in the month of November, when their lines opened.

Ordering Is Heavy
Heavy ordering of men's shirts and pajamas this month is reported at the opening of the National Market Week of the National Association of Shirt, Pajama and Sportswear Manufacturers. Some of the larger stores have booked their needs through April, with out-of-town buyers ordering in larger volume than the New York merchants.

Men's wear makers report good business. The International Association of Clothing designers, meeting here, are told that the industry has enough woolen cloth on hand to supply their needs for 1951. The association hopes to spur retail sales by promoting a new silhouette for the American male, called "The American Lounge Model" and due to appear in spring lines.

Ordering at the Chicago winter home furnishings market is reported running well ahead of expectations. Some furniture makers have booked all the orders they can handle until June.

Much of the ordering by retailers in various lines is classified as anticipatory—getting ready in case government production controls over raw materials mean shortages of some consumer goods in the months ahead.

But some of the recent ordering—particularly the re-ordering of winter lines—is believed in the trade to reflect a drop in certain stores' inventories to a lower-than-normal level. Part of this may have been due to cautious buying by the stores, but more is credited to the marked surge in public buying at the shops in the last few weeks.

Retailers are expecting a price freeze in the months ahead, and yesterday representatives of one million of the nation's stores asked the Economic Stabilization Authority to use the "margin type" price control, if a freeze is to be ordered. Instead of setting the price of each item in the store, the government allows the merchant to add an operating profit to his material cost. Retail prices, thus, move as manufacturer's prices move. Merchants say that is the fairest way.

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron Which His System Lacked

This little space is to be read by those folks who are always wishing they'd feel better. Now, this business of wishing for "this" and wishing for "that" is all right. It sort of makes a person look to the future. But it is a mighty sorry state of affairs when folks keep wishing and wishing they would feel better. That just doesn't get the job done. Take Leo D. Fisher, 901 Charles Street, St. Joseph, Missouri, for example. He just didn't wish he would feel better—he did something about it. He took HADACOL, and says he feels just fine for Mr. Fisher found that taking HADACOL helped his system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mr. Fisher's own statement: "I am a veteran of World War I. I have had stomach distress and was nervous and could not sleep. I had no appetite and could not eat any fried foods. I started taking HADACOL. I have taken 8 small bottles and now I am on my second large bottle. I eat anything. I feel fine and sleep good, thanks to HADACOL. I have recommended HADACOL to many people and they are taking it. I am a booster, for I cannot do without it."

Vacationists Are Source of Much Income

Missouri Reaps a Rich Harvest by Recreation Spots

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17—(AP)—Catering to the tourist and recreation trade has become big business in Missouri.

During 1950 it ranked fourth as a source of income for the state, bringing in more than $210,000,000 the state division of resources and development reported Tuesday.

This was $10,000,000 more than the largest previous year's total in 1948.

The average vacationer in Missouri stayed nine days and spent approximately $8 a day. The average number of persons in each vacation party was three and a half.

These figures were compiled by the division from questionnaires sent to a sample of the more than 85,000 persons who wrote for material on the state's recreation facilities.

The greater Chicago area provided the best market for Missouri vacation spots judged by responses to advertising and resort registrations. Many resorts reported Chicago area registra-

Railroads Ask Rates Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP)—

Railroad industry Tuesday formally asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for a new general six per cent increase in freight rates.

The hike, if granted, would be the ninth such increase since World War II. The boosts have thus far raised the rail freight rates by about 57 per cent over the 1946 levels.

All of the major railroads across the country joined in the petition to the ICC. They argued a further rise is made necessary by continuing increases in operating costs.

The companies notified the commission that they will come in before the end of this week with a motion to make the new increase expenditure each day was $4.32 per individual.

immediately effective on an emergency basis.

The six per cent hike would apply to all commodities, with six exceptions for which specific ceilings were requested.

The railroads said the increases on fresh fruits, including citrus fruits, fresh vegetables and melons not cold-packed nor frozen, should be six cents per 100 pounds; the increases on lumber and sugar four cents per 100 pounds; and the jump in coal rates 18 cents per net ton or 20 cents per gross ton.

As a preliminary to the general petition filed today, the eastern railroads yesterday withdrew a separate petition which they filed independently last month for a four per cent increase in their operating territory.

The new freight rate action follows by four days a petition filed with ICC by the Railway Express Agency for another broad upward revision in express charges, several times raised since the war.

The express agency is now proposing to increase some of its charges by more than 100 per cent and to establish a minimum charge of $2 per shipment, regardless of weight or distance involved. The express proposal exempts only daily newspapers, milk and cream from the planned increases.

Dinner Given Connie Sue Lyon

Miss Connie Sue Lyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lyon, 1605 West Fourteenth street, was honored with a birthday dinner Monday evening given by a group of her friends at the Old Missouri Homestead.

Lighted white tapers were on the table and as a white cake decorated with pink rosebuds was brought in the group sang the Happy Birthday song.

Those attending were Miss Lyon, Miss Nola Witte, Miss Anita Parks, Miss Rebekah McKendree, Miss Carolyn Collins, Miss Mary Frances Burlingame, Miss Lois Gregory, Miss Betty Ellsworth and Miss Rosalie Kirkpatrick.

Engagement

On December 29, 1950, Mrs. Sara C. Cope of Greensburg, Pa., announced the engagement of her daughter Miss Edith Ann Cope to Jack A. Luckert, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Luckert of Blackwater.

Miss Cope is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State college where she was a member of Kappa Gamma and is Greensburg home service representative for the Peoples Natural Gas company.

Mr. Luckert is employed by the I. T. E. Circuit Breaker Co. of Philadelphia and is presently receiving training at the Railway and Industrial Engineering company in Greensburg. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri. The announcement appeared in the Daily Tribune, Greensburg.

Nautilus Club Meeting

Mrs. George Swope was hostess to the Nautilus club at her home in LaMonte Thursday afternoon, January 11.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Wheeler, was in charge of the business session. The club voted to send a box of cookies and magazines to the boys at Boonville. Under sponsorship of Mrs. R. E. Hollenbeck, children's division superintendent, it was decided to present a book shelf to the high school as a memorial to Mrs. W. E. Walker. The citizenship committee was in charge of the program. Mrs. Charles Sevier introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. H. Jens, who reviewed the biography of General Ike by Alden Hatch. Mrs. Marion Stout was a guest of the club.

The hostess served refreshments of coffee and cookies.

Parties

A birthday party was held December 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ellison, 709 South Lafayette avenue honoring Mrs. Ellison's daughter, Mrs. Walker Paxton, and Mrs. Kenneth Mickens whose birthdays were the same day.

Gifts were exchanged between Mrs. Paxton and Mrs. Mickens. A chicken supper, cake and strawberries were served.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Paxton and children, Shirley and Johnnie, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mickens and children, Mary Lou, Betty Ellen.

"How I Relieve Distress of Monthly Female Complaints" and nervous feelings several days before... with Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—

truly "the woman's friend"

"Several days just before my period I'd feel so nervous, irritable, so restless, easily upset at the slightest thing—due to female functional monthly disturbances. I asked my druggist for something to take, and he told me Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I get simply amazing relief from this distress. Pinkham's Compound also relieves monthly headache, backache and those miserable bearing-down pains—due to this cause. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such distress.

"What also impressed me about Lydia Pinkham's Compound is that it's made strictly from nature's roots and herbs (plus Vitamin B). There are no harmful drugs in it. This is really a great comfort. I wish you girls troubled with this distress, Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron—pleasant to take and easy to carry in your purse.

Burfeind-Yessen Nuptials

Miss Norma Jean Burfeind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burfeind of Sweet Springs and Mr. Merle Leslie Yessen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand Yessen of Kansas City were married at 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 7, in the Sweet Springs Lutheran church. The Rev. Richard Deventhal read the double ring ceremony.

An arrangement of fern and white chrysanthemums and candelabra with lighted tapers adorned the chancel. The pews were decorated with white satin bows. Mrs. Paul Wylie played a program of organ music and accompanied Miss Patricia Burfeind, a sister of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown styled with fitted bodice and long sleeves tapering to a point over the hands. The full skirt lengthened into an aisle wide train. She wore a fingertip length veil and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Edith Eckhoff, maid of honor, wore a floor length dress of candy green satin, styled with a bertha collar and a full skirt and a long matching mitts. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Dale Martin of Kansas City and Miss Mary Ann Wylie wore floor length dresses of gold satin styled like that of the maid of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums variegated roses of red and yellow.

Candles were lighted by Allen Burfeind, brother of the bride and Randall Burfeind, a cousin of the bride. Robert Cook, cousin of the bride was ring bearer and carried a white satin pillow bearing the rings.

Mr. Raymond Scott acted as best man for Mr. Yessen. Ushers were Mr. D. R. Eaton and Mr. Tommie Joe Anderson, both of Kansas City.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue crepe street length dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Yessen, mother of the bridegroom wore a street length dress of black crepe with matching accessories. They each wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in the auditorium of the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Tommie Joe Anderson presided over the guest book. Mrs. Raymond Higley and Mrs. Raymond Wallhausen had charge of the gifts.

The bride chose a brown gabardine going away suit with white and brown accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home at 3011 East Ninth street, Kansas City.

Charter Night To Lions Club

Dr. Mortvedt in
Talk at Lincoln
To New Group

The presentation of the charter for the newly organized Lincoln (Mo.) Lions club was made Monday night by District Governor Fred Bonner, district 26-B of Eldon, at a dinner meeting held at the Lincoln high school. The newly formed club is sponsored by the Cole Camp Lions club and already has a membership of twenty-six.

"Problems or Answers" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. Robert Mortvedt, vice president of the University of Kansas City. Dr. Mortvedt who recently returned from a six months' tour of European countries in his address pointed out that the attitudes in individuals hold and the manner in which they solve or do not solve the simple and important every day problems by which they are confronted determines whether or not that person is a problem or answer.

R. G. Carney, mayor of Lincoln acted as toastmaster and also introduced the speaker of the evening.

Ten Clubs Represented
Lions club members from ten clubs of neighboring towns were introduced at the meeting along with their wives. Among those who were present other than Dr. Mortvedt and Governor Bonner were District Governor J. L. Stevenson, of Stover; Wilbur Coting, friend of Dr. Mortvedt, of Kansas City, and brother of the Irvin Boring first vice-president of the Lincoln club.

The program was in charge of vice president Boring and the meeting was opened by giving the pledge to the flag and singing of America.

The invocation was given by Lion J. L. Attwood. Zone Chairman Boeschon of Cole Camp then introduced the Tail Twisters who proceeded to fine various members for infractions of the Lions rules.

The program consisted of a Barber Shop quartet from the Windsor club, and Linda Kroenke and Betty Sue McCubbin of Lincoln.

One of the most enthusiastic members of the new club was introduced is W. W. Wisdom who will be 87 years young this March.

Two messages were read during the program, one from the officers of Lions International, Chicago, and D. Kelly Scruton, District Governor, 26-C.

The banquet dinner was served at long tables covered with white and decorations were in keeping with the club colors of gold and deep orchid. The centerpiece for the head table was an arrangement of yellow daffodils, fern and orchid ribbon on either side of which were burning gold tapers in two branch candelabra. Potted plants in attractive gold colored containers with burning gold tapers in orchid holders on either side formed the centerpiece at the remaining tables.

Sedalia Lions who attended the meeting were Kenneth Buchholtz, president; E. B. Smith, secretary; Lloyd Phillips, vice president; Dr. Dave Robinson, director; Mr. and Mrs. Cline Cain and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Charlie Fischetti's Poverty

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Gangster Charlie Fischetti, who is now ducking Senate crime investigators, took over much of the underworld empire of his cousin, Al Capone, after the latter was jailed for income tax evasion. Fischetti's domain extends all the way from the ritzy North Shore of Chicago where he maintains a penthouse at 3100 North Sheridan road, to Florida, where he has a winter place on Allison island off Miami Beach.

Yet Charlie Fischetti only reported an income of $23,342.50 for 1949. Every cent he made, he swore, was by "self-speculation," probably a polite name for gambling.

Other gangsters, perhaps more honest (if there is any degree of honesty among gangsters), reported much more income than this. Tony Accardo, one of the top mob in Chicago, reported a total income of $110,000. However, Charles and Ann Fischetti, filing a joint tax return last year, paid a tax of only $4,988.48—mere peanuts.

The public has the idea that modern racketeers are extremely careful in making out their income tax returns, in order to avoid what happened to Al Capone. That, however, is by no means the case. In the first place, the gangsters operate on a strictly cash basis. Second, international revenue makes no great effort to check on gambling profits.

I have spent a lot of time having an ex-internal revenue agent familiar with Chicago's gangland dig into Fischetti's returns. Going back over the years these returns are all vague. In 1947, he chalked up a meager income of $16,500, attributing it to "self-speculation." In 1946, Fischetti was equally vague, claiming even less income—$13,500. In 1945, it was still less—$10,700—while in 1944 it was $9,500.

In 1943, however, Fischetti was more specific. He listed $966.25 from the 229 club and another $9,000 which he attributed to "sundry wagering." The 229 club, at 229 South Wabash avenue, Chicago, was a favorite hangout for hoodlums and was where big Gus Winkler of St. Louis was killed.

Fischetti's 1942 income, however, was even more incredible. He listed a $778.02 profit from the 229 club, another $5,240 from "sundry wagering," and took deductions of $340.86. In 1940, Fischetti reported a profit of $7,645 on the 229 club, but reported a loss of $1,134.68 on the Blackhawk club, another hangout for gamblers above the Blackhawk restaurant in Chicago.

Though internal revenue agents have access to the books, the United States Treasury has not taken the trouble to post men in the gambling casino at the time the money is counted—which is after business closes every night. Managers of the big gambling establishments are careful to have watchers in rooms above the roulette wheels, to look down through holes in the ceilings and make sure no money is stolen by the casinos' own employees. But the Treasury, which could increase its take by millions, has not yet bothered to count the thousands raked in at the close of a casino's business.

This is one of the quickest sources of revenue available to Uncle Sam, at a time when the rest of the American people are going to dig deeper into their tax pockets than ever before.

Fischetti has a long police record, beginning April 30, 1926. On January 8, 1933, he received a 1-year sentence and $300 fine for carrying a concealed weapon.

At present, Fischetti is reported in Acapulco, Mexico, sunning himself on the beach until the Kefauver crime committee loses interest in him. It's quite a life, if you can get away with it.

Looking Backward

• Forty Years Ago

In a report to the county court it was shown that during the first month of its operation the general hospital had sixteen patients treated for medical and surgical needs of various natures.

Paul Gilman, a former Sedalia druggist, who has been at Boonville, has resigned his position there and returned here to be employed at the Bard Main street drug store.

Roy and Waller Dalby and David Thomson left for a business trip to Montivello, Ark., and New Orleans, La.

Charles W. Menefee, a former deputy sheriff of Pettis county, has signed a contract to travel for the Closet & Devers Coffee and Tea company, of Portland, Ore.

A team of horses hitched to a transfer wagon loaded with empty whisky jugs became frightened this morning and ran away. The start was from the Missouri distillery on Montevue avenue and the railway tracks. Over half the jugs jostled out and were broken.

J. B. Brown, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance company in Sedalia, resigned to engage in the real estate business. His successor is J. P. Burp of Parsons, Kas.

Austria's Case Proves U.S.S.R. Won't Deal on Any Fair Basis

By Bruce Blossat

Any who still harbor the hope you can deal with Russia on a fair footing might ponder the case of little Austria.

The first victim of Hitler's mania, Austria was drawn into the German nation in 1938. When the Nazis were pushed back in 1945, Russian and Allied armies occupied the country. It was quickly re-established as an independent nation.

With the Soviet Union occupying the eastern sector and the Allies the west, four-power negotiations began on a peace treaty. Since Russia then was still the great wartime ally of the West—not a feared potential enemy—hopes ran high for an early settlement.

More than five years have elapsed since the war ended in Austria. The other day the four powers held another meeting about the peace treaty. It was the 258th. It accomplished nothing. If anything, the negotiators are today further apart than they were a year ago.

Now, you can't explain away 258 fruitless meetings by saying simply that the Russians are a little more stubborn and mistrustful than most people. The truth is, they've elevated stubbornness into a tactical weapon of diplomacy.

They don't want an Austrian peace treaty—except on terms the West could never approve, terms that would reduce Austria to complete satellite status. Failing that kind of control, which they know we won't grant them, they want to keep their troops stationed there on Germany's southern flank. A treaty would end the occupation.

In opposing the Austrian settlement, the Soviet Union has resorted to a great assortment of devices. Her reasons at any particular moment do not matter. When the Russians wish to oppose, they can easily equip themselves with a full set of reasons, plus documents to match.

The history of these futile Austrian talks is a perfect object lesson in the worthlessness of sitting around the conference table with the Russians. To them, the green baize cover is only a battlefield of another sort.

There is really no such thing as negotiating with the Kremlin. Only the blunt facts of power make any dent in tough Russian skulls. Confronted with these, they will "deal," as they did in settling the Berlin blockade after we showed we could maintain the airlift indefinitely.

Otherwise, you encounter nothing that corresponds to negotiation anywhere else in the world. You either give Russia what she wants, or call the whole thing off. And the minimum she asks is always and inevitably an impossible sacrifice for you to make. Reasonable concession, compromise, trade, these standard tactics of the council chamber she does not understand, except as tricks to gain advantage.

When people want peace so badly, it's hard to convince them this is how the Russians are. Repeatedly the appeal is heard for "just one more try" at getting together. But maybe those 258 unproductive meetings on Austria provide the clincher that a lot of doubters seem to need.

Proceed With Caution

For the first time in many weeks mildly encouraging reports have come out of Indo-China. French forces, fighting under their new commander, Gen. De Lattre de Tassigny, have retaken a number of forts previously lost to the rebel Viet Minh armies.

De Lattre has repeated his determination to yield no more ground to the Communists from here on. There was a tendency in many quarters to regard his original declaration as false bravado, but recent action has bolstered hope that Indo-China may yet be kept out of Red hands.

De Lattre claims his men disrupted a Viet Minh plan to close in on the big northern city of Hanoi the week after Christmas. He says the city is now out of any immediate danger.

It's too soon, however, for broad optimism. The Chinese Reds, who are helping the Viet Minh, presently are pre-occupied in Korea. The real crisis for Indo-China may come when and if they are no longer thus involved and can devote fuller attention to Ho Chi Minh's cause.

Russian Stockpile is Tip-off

A dispatch from Central Europe deserves thoughtful attention. It declares that Russia is building a sizable stockpile of war material in Bulgaria.

Rumors along this line have been common for a long time, but this appears to be an authentic account.

No one knows the real purpose of the stockpiling except the Russians themselves. It could be added material for Bulgarian forces poised on Tito's Yugoslav borders, though Bulgaria already has received considerable aid from Moscow. Arguing against this explanation is the fact that no Bulgarians are allowed anywhere in the stockpiling zones.

The general conviction is Russia wants the material for her own forces, should the day come when she might either contribute to an assault on Tito, or push against Greece and Turkey.

Reports like these—if substantiated—are the best gauge of Russian intentions.

Bear Hug

Another Soviet straw in the wind—Russia has clamped a tighter grip on Bulgaria. Without any formalities, Soviet citizens, under a new official Bulgarian decree, can move into key posts in the government.

This seems to mean that in the event Russia decided to attack Yugoslavia or West Germany, it could practically take over Bulgaria and make it an integral part of the Soviet Union.

In the past Bulgaria has served as a sort of satellite guinea pig for Soviet experiments in control. Hence U. S. State Department experts feel this move may be the forerunner of similar steps in the other satellites.

The Russians say, of course, that they love their Slavic neighbors like brothers. It begins to look as if they want to hug them to death.

Remember, Girls, 'Forever' May be a Long, Long Time

One of the more famous young movie stars recently married for the second time, told the world: "Our honeymoon will last forever."

It is sad enough when a first-time bride goes into marriage with that notion in her pretty little head. But for a girl who has one divorce behind her to have such a foolishly romantic notion of marriage is downright tragic.

Because no honeymoon is going to last forever. And the bride who figures hers will be going to be in for a rude awakening.

She also probably isn't going to make a very good wife, no matter how often she switches marriage partners.

For when the honeymoon settles down to real marriage the bride who thought her married life was going to be one long honeymoon is pretty likely to turn against her husband.

Reality Will Shock Romanticism

Because he stops treating her like a queen, she thinks he has stopped loving her. Because he picks up his old life pretty much as it was before, she thinks he is being neglectful.

If he doesn't praise her continually, then he is unappreciative.

If his job is his main interest in life, he is a dull clod and she wonders why in the world she ever thought he was romantic.

If he is socially inclined she thinks he should continue to find all the companionship he needs with her.

And so it goes. Marriage is no honeymoon—but lots of disillusioned wives think their marriages are failures and their husbands are impossible to live with just because the honeymoon does not last forever.

The way to start a marriage right is to say "Our marriage will last forever"—not "Our marriage will be one long honeymoon."

The Doctor Says—

Cause of Irritating Eczema Is Often Difficult to Detect

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Not every skin rash is eczema by a long shot, though some people seem to think so. Eczema, or dermatitis venenata, as skin specialists call it, is really limited to certain skin conditions which are caused by contact with some irritating substances. In a way it is a kind of allergy because some people are not harmed by things which cause eczema in others.

At first eczema is likely to appear as a simple redness of the skin, but if the irritation has been severe, blisters and even small pus pockets can form. After a while the redness and other signs of inflammation often give way to chronic symptoms.

Eczema shows up on those parts of the body which have come in contact with the irritating substance. For this reason the hands face and legs (particularly in women) are the most likely parts of the skin to get involved.

The skin usually itches and burns even before the redness appears. Naturally scratching follows; sometimes the skin has been so injured by the scratching that the eczema seems rather unimportant.

All kinds of things can cause eczema in a susceptible person. Nearly everyone is "susceptible" to poison ivy, but eczema has been reported from hair dyes, face powders, shampoo soaps, tincture of iodine, weeds, almost all kinds of clothing, match boxes, the ink of comic strips and a thousand other things.

There are four aims of treatment; to identify the substance which is causing the difficulty, to try to avoid further contact, to keep from putting stuff on the skin which might make the eczema worse, and finally to use soothing lotions or ointments which will lessen the inflammation and let the skin get back to normal.

Detective Work

Finding the cause is often a job. At times it takes real detective ability on the part of the doctor. Another difficulty in many cases of eczema is that the victim may have tried to treat himself with some substance which does nothing but cause further irritation to the skin which has already had more than it could take.

In fact I have had skin specialists tell me that they ran into more trouble trying to overcome the bad effects of self-treatment than they did from the eczema itself.

This Last Night

By Ferd Nauheim

Copyright 1951, by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Paul Twing, seeking to correct what he believes to be an injustice, kidnaps his niece Judy from her unworthy mother and flees to New York with May Jenkins, a girl who believes in him. May and Judy, who are separated from Paul to prevent discovery, are nearly caught in the denouement, but escape. Paul tries to contact a friend, Captain Jaboe, and is tipped off that police are waiting for him and he is to call Captain Cross of the Dolphin. Cross gives Paul instructions how to reach the ship.

XV

ALTHOUGH it was an hour before the scheduled meeting time Paul Twing found himself looking up from the paper every few minutes to see if May and Judy had arrived yet.

By 4:30, despite the fact that their appointment was for 5, the intoxicating joy of his good news began to grow thin. He became nervous. All attempts at reading were abandoned. He paced up and down in the block-long park watching for them.

The descriptions of both May and Judy in the newspaper accounts had been sufficiently complete to give him cause for concern for their safety. Anything could have happened since early morning.

By 5 o'clock Paul's happy optimism had evaporated completely. His mouth was dry with fear. The pacing had become relentless. He was unable to sit. Something must have happened or they would have been on time! He repulsed a strong desire to run across the street and see if the final editions were out yet, but he didn't dare leave the park for even those few seconds.

Five fifteen . . . five thirty . . . quarter of six. His stomach was a hard lump of lead. Despite the coolness of the evening his body was wet with perspiration.

It was getting close to the dinner hour and the crowd in the park thinned out. A policeman strolled through and gave him a long searching look. Paul tried hard to show unconcern under the scrutiny but his heart pounded against his ribs so vigorously that he felt its pulsations must be visible.

Maybe they had been caught. Maybe they were in custody right now. Perhaps May, or more likely Judy, had told where they were to meet. He spun around and looked at the retreating back of the policeman. He kept watching him. The blue uniform moved on into the approaching dusk and crossed the street without looking back.

Paul saw him stop at a lamp post on the opposite corner. The policeman took a key from his pocket, opened a box attached to the lamp post and pulled out a telephone.

It was after six o'clock. One hour after the time they had agreed to meet and no sign of May or Judy. They had been seen this morning—seen and described to police. The policeman was facing Paul as he talked on the phone. Why hadn't he seized him on the spot if he had come there looking for him? It couldn't be that, and yet—

Paul took out his watch and looked at it again. It was ten after six. If nothing had happened to stop May from meeting him she would have been on time—ahead of time.

The policeman had hung up the phone and deliberately turned away. Paul hesitated another moment, then hurried off in the opposite direction.

AT four-thirty May Jenkins and a little Judy Twing left the brown stone house on 81st Street. May had kept Harry with them until the last minute. She had been afraid that he would tell of his share in the exciting episode with the police, a story that would reveal to the landlady what had really happened.

May still worried about it although Harry had presented the basis for the story that might keep him quiet.

After the detectives had left he had asked, "Gee, did Johnny break a window or something?"

Grasping the cue, May had assured him that that was just what had happened. John had accidentally broken a big store window and if anyone found out he had done it, May would have to pay so much money that they would have to leave New York and go home. Harry wouldn't have anyone to play with again.

When they came out of the house, May looked up and down the street with anxious care. In her mind was the thought that she possibly had not deceived the police. Perhaps they had pretended that they were taken in by her story and were waiting for her to lead them to Paul.

Nothing met her eye that aroused any suspicion. Despite that, she was determined to take no chances. As long as she was with Judy she felt that she was suspect. Any casual glance from people on the streets made her ill with apprehension. Going to the subway in the morning she had noticed a big moving picture theater at 82nd Street and Broadway.

They walked the short distance to the theater. Judy was gleeful at the idea of going to a movie. She assured May that her mother let her go alone many times ever since she had been seven. At the box office May learned the exact time Judy would get out after seeing the entire performance. The girl in the box office said that she'd be out at six fifty-five.

"Here's your ticket, darling," May said. "I'll be waiting for you right here. No matter how much you like the movie, I want you to leave the minute you come to the part you will see now when you go in. Don't stay to see anything twice. Will you do that?"

"I will," Judy promised. She was dancing with eagerness to go inside.

Feelings of Taxpayers Are Bitter Against Stalin

against an aggressive communism which is manipulated by the all powerful dictator in the Kremlin—Stalin. The taxpayer's feelings toward Moscow are not pleasant.

Sure Be Disturbed

And what might Stalin's reaction be? He plays his cards close to his chest, so we shall have to do some high-power guessing.

In the first place the Red dictator must be amazed at the size of our undertaking. And it's safe to say he must be disturbed to find the American public willing to shoulder such a mountainous burden.

And just as this Herculean gesture has given fresh confidence to the democracies which are battling communism, so must it have handed the Kremlin a solid jolt to see us displaying such economic strength. Stalin may well have done himself a disservice by forcing America to adopt such an unprecedented course.

However, that's not the whole story: We shouldn't let ourselves get to feeling smug. We must remember that one of Moscow's chief methods of softening up nations so that communism can take them over is to disrupt them economically. A country which is hard-up is far easier picking.

Look wherever you will in Europe, Asia or the western hemisphere, and you will find the Communist part devoting much of their energy to disrupting industry and causing other damage calculated to weaken the economic structure. Plenty of it has been going on in the United States.

So Marshal Stalin is bound to get some satisfaction out of forcing America to extend itself so much. Still, he is bound to recognize that while he has thrust a colossal financial task on us, yet he can't break us.

On the whole one would think that any satisfaction Stalin may get out of the situation would be far outweighed by his concern over the unlimited determination America is showing in meeting the Red challenge.

There is no reason to suppose that this will impel the marshal to alter greatly Bolshevism's methods of carrying out its world revolution, but it might force him to act with more caution. This mighty military budget not only spells a grim determination on the part of America but presages the perfection of a vast defensive fighting machine among the democracies.

Thus the American taxpayer can have the satisfaction of knowing that his effort is creating fresh confidence among his allies, and without much doubt will compel the Kremlin to pause for consideration.

The Georgia senator, a member of the foreign relations committee, said Byrnes seemed to be "on sound ground" in declaring that "our forces should be withdrawn x x x if the United Nations is unwilling promptly to declare China an aggressor, authorize our air force to attack the supply bases of the enemy and join in blockading China."

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) said he approves exactly the line of Far Eastern action suggested by Byrnes.

While Humphrey said he could not agree with all of Byrnes' proposals for the Far East, he said the South Carolina governor's speech "indicates that despite differences on domestic issues there is a considerable area of agreement among Democrats on foreign policies."

In his inaugural address, apparently prepared before President Truman's budget message became public, Byrnes expressed hope the Truman administration "will not urge either political proposals or socialistic programs which are certain to divide our people."

George said Mr. Truman had done just that in the budget message, suggesting this Congress act on FEPC, aid to education, com-

The story that inspired the treasure hunt is that three farmers followed a dog into the cave in 1879, saw great pillars of glittering crystal and became ill on the way out. One was supposed to have died later from mysterious burns on his body. The cave later was sealed in a dispute over title to the land, or so the story has it.

A seven-man group started the work of locating the cave about two weeks ago. Louis Ventrella, a St. Louis stock and bonds salesman, is president of the company. The firm was organized originally to bottle water from springs in the area, but this venture failed.

attorney in Los Angeles told him the California office is taking immediate steps to return Cook, now in the U. S. Dept. of Justice, to Oklahoma City.

"It is the intention of the Department of Justice to return Cook to Oklahoma City to stand trial in the Western District Federal Court on Lindbergh kidnap and possibly other charges," Deputy U. S. Attorney General Peyton Ford said in Washington.

Shelton said he probably will prosecute Cook, the suspected slayer of eight persons—including the Mosser family and seek the death penalty.

A jury, though, must recommend the extreme penalty, which, in this case, would be death in Oklahoma's electric chair at the state penitentiary.

The court, Shelton said, may accept a guilty plea and still present the evidence to a jury so a jury recommendation may be obtained.

Or, he added, the court may ignore a guilty plea and conduct a trial.

Shelton said jurisdiction in the case is with the federal district in which the kidnapping occurred. The exact location of a slaying is unimportant, he said.

Ernest Tolin, the U. S. attorney in Los Angeles, said he is awaiting the warrant for Cook's return to Oklahoma.

The information against Cook, captured in Mexico Sunday after an international man-hunt, will be presented to a federal grand jury Tuesday.

Cook, a one-time Missouri convict, has denied he ever knew the Mosser family, found in an abandoned mine shaft Monday.

2. Work of opening field offices was rushed. ESA officials said the 13 regional offices will be "in business" by Feb. 1, some of them earlier. And the regional offices will turn to the job of opening district offices as soon as possible.

Max McCullough, former OPA deputy administrator, is organizing the field staff.

3. Industry leaders were being chosen rapidly to head ESA "commodity divisions," such as foods, chemicals, consumer goods, and forest products. ESA officials said these men will be ready to move into their jobs at a moment's notice.

4. The Bureau of Labor statistics announced that the retail prices of 50 foods in eight large cities have hit a new peak. On Jan. 2, the average of those prices stood at 218.9 per cent of the 1935-1939 average. During the two weeks, prior to Jan. 2, the price level had surpassed the former high of 216.8 on July 15, 1948.

5. One government official—a man whose influence was extremely important in blocking a 30-day price freeze last week—told a reporter he is not against a freeze, but is only against doing it now, when the staff is still inadequate.

This official, who cannot be identified, said a freeze of prices, with such a small staff, would freeze a vast number of inequities, would be difficult to enforce, and would tend to drive low-profit articles out of the market.

But he said he would not favor waiting until the ESA is fully staffed before risking a freeze.

He said he would prefer to see detailed price ceilings worked out in advance in certain complicated cases—such as meat and clothing prices—because a blanket freeze order would be least likely to prove practical in those fields.

Taylor Wants Cut in Funds Wiped Out

Committee of the House Works on Appropriations

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Attorney General J. E. Taylor asked the House appropriations committee today to give him back his full request for funds. Taylor would wipe out a $349,000 cut Gov. Forrest Smith recommended.

Taylor asked for a total of $1,243,600. The governor cut that to $894,600 and the pending appropriation bill went along with the governor's figures.

But Taylor urged the committee to put the full figure back. He said he is faced with personnel problems which could be met only partly with increased salaries.

On top of that, he added, his office has regularly collected fines and delinquent taxes: several times greater than his appropriation in the past; and

"I can almost guarantee we will be able to do that in the next two years if we have enough money to continue our present anti-trust campaign."

Fines in the anti-trust suits have produced more than $100,000 in a little over a year.

Smith and Taylor have been mentioned frequently as possible primary election opponents for the Democratic senatorial nomination in 1952.

Taylor was the only elected state official to suffer any substantial cut in the governor's recommendations. The governor's budget would give Taylor almost the same amounts he received for the current two-year period ending June 30.

Other state officials who appeared before the committee today said appropriations provided in the bills are "entirely satisfactory."

The committee approved five bills totaling $125,000,000 last night. That puts them on the list for immediate House debate next week.

Auto in Ditch To Avoid Train

Running his auto into a ditch to avoid being struck by a Missouri Pacific passenger train, probably saved the lives of William Hayworth and his five children of route 1, Beaman, about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. The accident occurred on the crossing east of the Missouri Pacific shops.

Mr. Hayworth's daughter Helen, 13 years old, suffered a severe laceration on her forehead at the hairline when she was thrown against the front seat. She was taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. D. R. Edwards attended her, taking five stitches to close the injury.

According to Mr. Hayworth he was headed south on the gravel road when he noticed the fast approaching train. He said he applied his brakes to stop, but they failed, and to keep from going in front of the train he pulled the car to the left and nosed the vehicle into an eight foot ditch. The ditch was only a few feet from the railroad track.

Only slight damage resulted to the 1938 Chevrolet coach.

Three Runs Made To Grass Fires Today

The fire companies today have made three runs up to 2:05 o'clock this afternoon. The three runs brought to a total of 40 for this month.

The first alarm was at 11:55 o'clock to the 800 block on West Saline street where a field of grass was burning. No damage resulted.

At 1:40 o'clock a grass fire at 1215 East Sixth street caused a run. No damage resulted.

Burning grass at 1320 East Twelfth street resulted in the third run by the companies. No damage resulted.

Fined Over Tractor-Trailer Overload

Elliott Wayne Barnett, Houston, Tex., was fined $50 and costs in the Magistrate court of Judge W. W. Blain, today, on a charge of having his tractor-trailer overloaded. The large truck was loaded with heavy dredging equipment and was overloaded to the extent of approximately 3,000 pounds.

Barnett was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

William Meinert Died At Cole Camp

COLE CAMP, Mo., Jan. 17.—(AP)—William Meinert, retired employee of the Missouri Public Service company, died today after a heart attack.

He was the father of Vic Meinert, Booneville, president of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson Baseball league.

Besides the son he is survived by Mrs. Meinert.

The principle of jet propulsion was used in 1232 A.D. when the son of Genghis Khan, Ogda, used rockets as "secret weapons" against the Tartars.

Thirty-six persons died when the dirigible airship, the Hindenburg, exploded at Lakehurst, N.J., May 6, 1937.

Blaze Destroys Near 120 Tons Hay

Young Minister Is Accosted By The Police

Approximately 120 tons of baled hay belonging to George L. Lewis and stacked on the farm of Joe Thompson, three miles west of LaMonte, were destroyed by fire, about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Many acres of dry grass also was burned and for a time threatened the residence of the Thompsons and several farm buildings.

The fire started from what was believed a carelessly thrown lighted cigarette, or match by a passing motorist about a half quarter mile from the Thompson residence on the north side of the highway and then burned northeast. Several fence posts and a pile of lumber were destroyed while farm machinery was pulled across the highway and escaped the fire.

Fire fighting equipment from the Sedalia Airforce Base and the Johnson County fire truck, along with the small truck from Knob Noster went to the scene and extinguished the wind fanned flames.

It was an embarrassing moment for Moore but not nearly so embarrassing as it was for the police officers when the young preacher answered their questions of who he was, where he was going, where he had been and proved by his credentials that he was a minister of the gospel.

"I didn't think I looked like a desperado," said the Rev. Mr. Moore, "I try to look like a preacher—but maybe I don't, I was sure glad I had my credentials with me—two months ago I really couldn't have proved I was a preacher, but now—thank goodness my credentials: say so."

Of course, he still had a way of proving his profession — he could have preached a sermon for the officers—but he was mighty glad he didn't have to.

British commonwealth officials, who fathered the U. S. cease-fire plan, said they would not describe Peiping's reply as a turnaround of peaceful settlement until they have studied it in detail.

Some of the Chinese Communist counter-proposals appear to be not very far from the proposals contained in the cease-fire plan, these informants said.

The U. N. plan suggested a conference on Korea and related problems attended by Red China, Russia, British and the United States. It did not exclude, however, other nations from taking part. Thus the addition of France, India and Egypt might be acceptable to Washington and London, it was pointed out.

The U. N. plan also said the Chinese representation issue in the world body would be discussed by the projected conference on Korea and other oriental problems.

The broadcast version of the Chinese Communist reply as heard here, did not make clear whether Peiping was demanding U. N. membership before the proposed conference takes place. Reception of the broadcast here was spotty.

The broadcast in Chinese was monitored in Tokyo.

TOKYO, Thursday, January 18.—(AP)—Peiping radio said today the Chinese Communist regime had rejected the latest United Nations Korean cease-fire proposal.

It said the U. N. five-point proposals for peace in Korea and other Far Eastern issues was "impossible."

The broadcast in Chinese was monitored here by the Japanese Kyodo news agency.

The broadcast said the message was sent by Premier Chou En-Lai to David Owen, acting secretary-general of the U. N. in New York, for transmission to Roberto Urdaneta Arbalaz, chairman of the political committee of the U. N. General Assembly.

An English version which Peiping began broadcasting shortly afterward quoted Chou as standing on his original position:

1. That negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Korean problem should be based on withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea and letting the Koreans settle their own internal problems.

2. That U. S. forces must withdraw from Formosa (meaning that the U. S. 7th fleet withdraw its protecting "neutralization" of that island).

3. That Red China be admitted to the United Nations.

The English version quoted Chou as insisting that to agree to a cease-fire before negotiations would result only in endless discussions without solving any problems.

He said such a cease-fire would be designed only to secure a breathing space for American troops in Korea, and that negotiations should come before, not after, any cease-fire is arranged.

Fine and Jail Term For Having Still

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Jesse Blankenship was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 yesterday for possessing a still at his farm near Banner, Mo., which he said he used to make whisky "just for the holidays."

Federal Judge Ruben M. Hulen, before whom Blankenship pleaded guilty, was told the farmer had been selling moonshine at $2 a pint.

Bill to Ease Farmers' Tax

ents to $5,000 in these days of inflation. A similar bill, introduced a week ago, would put the top at $4,000.

If some extension of the property valuation boost isn't passed by July 1 the maximum allowed pensioners falls back to $1,500 for a single person and $2,000 for a couple.

Been Carrying Full Load
The other bill would permit the state to participate in federal aid for unemployable persons. In the past the state has been carrying the full direct relief load by itself.

Yesterday both houses received new measures during technical "skeleton" sessions.

Among new measures were: A proposed change in Missouri's constitution to set up a whole new legislative idea — 100 representatives and 50 senators to be elected from 50 districts and to be paid $3,000 a year. Now there are 34 senators and 154 representatives who get $1,500 annually.

Rep. Tom Shockley (D) of Pulaski county said his idea was to equalize the city-country representation and give the lawmakers a boost in pay.

A Senate suggestion to send delinquent Negro girls to the training school for white girls at Chillicothe and make the present Tipitcho school for Negro girls a branch of the women's state prison.

Sen. David A. Hess (D) of St. Louis said he offered the measure at the request of Ben Marvin Castiel, director of the state corrections department.

Nature Film For Children

Shown Saturday at Public Library in Education Series

Information, education, recreation—no longer are dispensed by the Sedalia Public Library solely through the traditional printed word.

With the Carnegie film demonstration program in effect less than a week, audiences totaling over 300 persons have been entertained and instructed by documentary, informational sound-motion pictures. The booking records already indicate that schools, churches and service organizations in the community have been waiting for this latest of library services.

A $15,000 grant by the Carnegie Corporation in 1948 marked the beginning of film circulation programs in various Missouri county and city libraries. Only recently have the terms and requirements of the co-operative been changed to allow participation by smaller libraries. Sedalia's membership was approved by the local library board at its December meeting, and the contract for six months' trial participation was signed early in January.

The films now available must be booked for showing before February 7, on which date a new selection will be received from the State Library.

Children attending regular story hour last Saturday were shown, at its close, an 11 minute film. Judging from their close attentiveness, their happy faces and calm leave-taking, the picture "Robin Redbreast" can be highly recommended for young audiences. An adult onlooker, however, remarked that she had picked up several facts about the behavior of robins.

Other film titles of particular interest to older grade school children, as well as to some adult groups, are "Alaska's Silver Millions" and "Trees for Tomorrow," running time 20 and 18 minutes, respectively.

A 27-minute film on "The Problem Child" is for parents of preschool children. Another film, running the same length of time, but of wider audience-interest range is "Years at the Spring in Missouri," in color.

"Despotism and Democracy," running 22 minutes, has less entertainment value than any of the others, but is highly recommended because of its timely analysis of despotic and democratic forms of government.

Additional information concerning film service may be obtained by calling the library, Phone 1314.

PIN-WORMS GO!

Jayne's P-W Gets Real Results

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms. . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge. . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Business Leader With Great War Record Tells How Hadacol Rebuilt Him Physically

Was run-down, weak, after service in South Pacific due to deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

Mr. Donald Hedburg, who resides at 1812 Parker in the fashionable Riverside District of Wichita, Kansas, has been an up-and-coming executive member of the staff of the great Wichita Eagle newspaper for over four years.

Mr. Hedburg has an enviable record of combat with the U. S. Army in the South Pacific in World War II. He is very active in civic affairs. And just as he was anxious to pitch in and do a job during the war—he now wants to help his fellow citizens who (like he was once) are physically run-down and weak due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in their systems.

Here is Donald W. Hedburg's witnessed statement: "When I returned from service, I faced the problem of rebuilding myself physically. I was in a general run-down condition."

"In my present capacity for advertising salesman for Kansas' greatest newspaper, The Wichita Eagle, it's absolutely necessary that I have plenty of vitality—get up and go! I had real cause to worry. Nothing seemed to rebuild me constitutionally. Then a friend of mine on the national staff told me about HADACOL—he asked me to try at least five bottles. I'm on my fourth bottle and already I feel like my old self. I look forward to a day's work and go home—play with the children, work in the yard—fish until midnight! Thanks again to HADACOL, energy and vitality once again course through every fiber of my body. You bet, I too, am now a missionary for this great new HADACOL."

Get That Wonderful HADACOL Feeling Everyone is Talking About! HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it not only supplies deficient, weak run-down systems with more than their daily needs of important Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin—but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

If you are a victim of neuritis pains, certain stomach and nervous disturbances, constipation, insomnia or a weak, run-down condition due to such deficiencies, HADACOL will start you on the road to feeling better often within a few days. Thousands upon thousands of records of grateful men, women and children prove this to be so.

Many Doctors Recommend It! HADACOL is recommended by many doctors not only to their patients but to members of their own families who have such deficiencies. Before giving up hope—you owe it to yourself to at least give HADACOL a chance to help you. Why keep dragging yourself around feeling 'half-alive' when it's so easy to have that wonderful HADACOL feeling everyone is talking about! Trial-size bottle, only $1.00. Large family or hospital size, $3.39. Refuse substitutes.

Eckert Meets Champ Thesz Here Tonight

Miss Mildred Burke
Champion of Women
Vs. Elvira Snodgrass

WRESTLING SCHEDULE
Heavyweight Championship
Lou Thesz vs. Ray Eckert
St. Louis, Mo. vs. California, Mo.
2 falls out of 3—1-hour limit.
Woman's Championship
Mildred Burke vs. Elvira Snodgrass
Los Angeles, Calif. vs. Columbus, Ohio
2 falls out of 3—1-hour limit.
Opening Event
Ann La Verne vs. Ella Waldek
Cleveland, Ohio vs. Custer, Wash.
One fall with a 30-minute limit.
Place: National Guard Armory.
Time: 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, the former world heavyweight wrestling champion, will be at the ringside of tonight's wrestling match when Lou Thesz, St. Louis, claimant to the title, meets Ray Eckert of California, Mo., in the main event. The match is supported by two other events, the first to start at 8:30 o'clock in the National Guard armory.

Thesz, who is considered one of the toughest opponents of the heavyweight division, pulls no punches in trying to defeat his opponents. He is likewise meeting a man who has such a reputation and anything can happen in the event tonight.

Champion Mildred Burke, who hails from Coffeyville, Kansas, and Los Angeles, is the second main feature on the card meeting Elvira Snodgrass of Columbus, Ohio. Miss Burke is considered one of the finest women wrestlers in the country, but she too, is meeting a strong contender in Miss Snodgrass, who loves to "rough-it-up."

Opening tonight's wrestling entertainment will be a one-fall event bringing together Miss Ann La Verne of Dayton, Ohio, who is meeting Miss Ella Waldek of Custer, Wash.

Followers of Eckert have assured the home town boy of California, Mo., they will be at the ringside in his corner all the way.

Orange Bowl Threatens A Switch to Pro Teams Because of NCAA Rule

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 17—(AP)—Three of the nation's four major football bowls plan "business as usual" New Year's day. But new NCAA rules governing the post-season classics may force a change in the Orange bowl.

Representatives of the Rose, Cotton and Sugar said their games would not be greatly affected. But an Orange bowl committee member said his group was thinking of switching from college to professional teams.

What the new regulations—providing primarily specific division of gross receipts and NCAA representation in staging the games—will mean for the minor bowls is not yet known.

The new regulations were adopted here last week at the annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. They provide, in the main, that participating teams share 75 per cent of the gross receipts and that the NCAA be represented in the management of the bowls.

Arthur Ungar, an Orange bowl committeeman, said it would be impossible to meet the 75 per cent demand because the game's sponsors must pay 20 per cent for rental of the Miami, Fla., stadium. That, he said, would leave just five per cent for operating expenses.

Three White Sox Players Sign Contracts

War Threat Is Hard Blow To Athletics

Outlook Ranks Of the Professionals Will be Hard Hit

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—(AP)—The nation's sports writers and radio casters are a gloomy lot as they contemplate the coming year. A great majority of them fear that athletes of every type, both professional and amateur, will feel drastically the effects of the world situation.

Of several hundred experts who answered an Associated Press year-end questionnaire, fewer than a dozen are ready to predict that sports will go "business as usual" in the face of the draft and possible all-out mobilization.

Typical of these replies received from every section of the country are these:

"Threat of war may wreck minor baseball leagues, put colleges back on war-time standards."

"Expect a slump at the gates and inroads on sports by draft boards."

"Sports in '51? Where? Here or in Korea? It looks from here like all sports will be uniform."

If there is a declared war, the vast majority agree that no professional sport will survive this time and that college sport will be extremely hard hit.

Even those who take the optimistic view that the world situation will not worsen during '51 and that sports will rock along more or less as usual concede that the draft is bound to reduce the caliber of competition.

First to be hit, and hardest, says the correspondents, will be the minor baseball league.

As for the major leagues, "the best that we can expect to see as the year goes along is inferior performances by inferior athletes," says an observer.

Numbers of those who answered the poll predict that every college football team will play freshmen next fall, as they did during World War II, and that the balance of football will again shift to the service academies. The consensus is that attendance will flop.

Among those who passed up the over-all picture in favor of more specific predictions, most picked the New York Yankees to win their third straight world series.

One voter, showing signs of haste, signed off with "this is my last official act as sports editor—I've been drafted!"

Simmons Best In 20 Years, Says Sawyer

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 17—(AP)—"The best young pitcher to come up to the majors in 20 years," is how Phillie manager Eddie Sawyer describes Curt Simmons, now in the army.

Speaking at the annual Banquet of Champions here, the man who piloted the Phillies to their first National League title in 35 years said he felt certain that Simmons would have won "23 or 24 games" if he hadn't been called up by the National Guard last September. The 21-year-old southpaw scored 17 victories.

"I'm sure, too, that if Curt had not been called there might have been a different story in the World Series," said Sawyer. "His additional victories would have helped us to clinch the pennant earlier, and we would have gone into the World Series with a tired and worn out ball club."

"We were accused of a slump in the Series but our slump really began and lasted the entire last month of the season. Our pitching was good, allowing the opposition only an average of two runs per game, but we averaged only a run and a half. And that lasted thru the World Series."

In 15 of their last 27 games, the Phillies were held to two runs or less. They suffered seven shutouts since the double Labor Day whitewashing by the Giants. In

Your Income Tax Primer

By RICHARD A. MULLENS

NEA Special Correspondent

The hardest part is over. If you have followed the previous articles, you now have your income added up and you know what deductions can be claimed if you so choose.

This article tells you how to select the best way to compute your tax.

If your adjusted gross income (Item 4, Page 1, of Form 1040) is less than $5000 and you do not have deductions which total more than 10% of Item 4, compute your tax by using the Tax Table on Page 4. Article 11 gives detailed instructions on the use of the Tax Table.

Those of you who do not use the Tax Table must use the tax computation schedule on Page 3 to compute your tax.

Even though your adjusted gross income is under $5000, you should use the tax computation schedule on Page 3 if your itemized deductions exceed 10% of your adjusted gross income. You must use the tax computation schedule on Page 3 if your adjusted gross income (Item 4, Page 1, of Form 1040) is $5000 or more.

Many taxpayers will not be sure whether their deductions exceed 10% of their adjusted gross income until they actually list the deductions on Page 3 of the return. Note how John and Jane Public have listed their deductions. It would be acceptable to any Internal Revenue auditor unless, of course, he was suspicious of the deductions. In that case he could require the Publics to explain how they figured their deductions.

The first step in using the tax computation schedule on Page 3 is to enter your adjusted gross income (Item 4, Page 1, of Form 1040) on Line 1. What you enter in Line 2 is important. Here are some rules to help you:

If you are a married person filing a separate return and your Item 4, Page 1 of the return is under $5000, you can either enter your itemized deductions on Line 2 or use the Tax Table on Page 4—which ever gives the smaller tax. Remember, if one spouse itemizes his deductions, the other spouse must also itemize deductions. If Item 4 is over $5000, use your itemized deductions or $5000, whichever is greater, on Line 2. If you are single or married and filing a joint return and your Item 4 is under $5000, use your itemized deductions or the Tax Table on Page 4, as explained in the 11th article—which ever gives the smaller tax. If Item 4 is between $5000 and $10,000, show 10% of Item 4 in Line 2, or your itemized deductions, whichever is greater. If Item 4 is more than $10,000, show $1000 in Line 2 or your own deductions, whichever is greater.

Some of the lines of this schedule are used only when a separate return is being filed and other lines are used only when a joint return for husband and wife is being filed. To show the difference, computations for a separate return and a joint return will be filled out side-by-side.

Enlistments Are Stopped By Air Force

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(P)—The Air Force announced tonight the suspension of enlistments except for personnel with previous Air Force service.

A spokesman said the action was taken due to heavy enlistments and overcrowding of facilities at Air Force indoctrination centers. He said it is hoped the suspension can be lifted about Feb. 1.

There are three exceptions to the order, he said. Still being accepted are personnel with prior Air Force service, applicants for the Women's Air Force (WAF), and young men who have been appointed to aviation cadet courses for pilots and navigators.

New Base to Open

The Air Force spokesman told a reporter that it is hoped to have the new Sampson Air Force base at Geneva, N. Y., ready for operation by the middle of February. He said this would greatly facilitate handling of enlistees. The A. F. recently took over this base which was a Naval training station in World War II.

The Air Force issued this statement:

"Due to the heavy response to the Air Force enlistment program and the accompanying overloading of facilities at Air Force indoctrination centers, enlistment of personnel in the Air Force without prior service is temporarily suspended. The suspension is expected to be lifted by February 1."

Lackland Overcrowded

The spokesman said the principal indoctrination center is the Lackland Air Force base at San Antonio, Tex., and this base is badly overcrowded now and unable to handle further enlistments at present.

Both the Navy and the Air Force have been running far ahead of their quotas for volunteers. Early in January both services limited their quotas of enlistees to about 1,000 a day.

Figures on current strength of these two branches of the service are not available.

Housewife Swindler Held on Two Counts

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(P)—Paul Neil Lewis, 32, was booked Tuesday on charges of forgery and grand larceny for allegedly stealing $82,000 of Lipton Tea Co. sales promotion program.

Housewives by the hundreds of thousands sent in 50-cent-pieces and Lipton Tea labels for a "chef's saw" advertised last year on Arthur Godfrey's television program.

Police said Lewis spent most of the $82,000 on "horse racing bets, expensive automobiles, high living and various girl friends." They said at Belmont Park once Lewis put $12,000 on a horse named Baby Comet, which failed to live up to its name.

Questions the Big Housing Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(P)—Democratic Senator Robertson questioned Tuesday whether Congress ought to approve President Truman's new defense housing program at a time "we face one of the worst inflation threats."

The Virginia lawmaker raised the point at the start of Senate banking committee hearings on the controversial $3,000,000,000 bill.

The government's top housing officials, Housing and Home Finance Administrator Raymond F. Foley and Federal Housing Commissioner Franklin D. Richards, were before the committee at the time to urge approval of the measure.

Foley described the program as largely "standby in character." For the present, he said, credit curbs on building might be relaxed to obtain needed housing in defense areas.

Robertson declared inflation "might be as ruinous to us as defeat on the battle field" and demanded the White House clarify what he called a policy conflict.

Robertson said it ought to be made clear whether the administration is proposing to superimpose "continued maximum production of consumer goods"—such as housing—on a program calling, for up to $60,000,000,000 for defense material as he figured it.

Noting that President Truman has asked for at least $16,000,000,000 in new taxes, Robertson declared that neither taxes nor wage-price controls could "stem the tide of inflation if we are going to pour over the precipice" billions of dollars in new housing credit.

The proposed housing program would increase by $3,000,000,000 the mortgage insurance authority of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA). The insurance would assist private industry in the construction of defense area homes.

Richards, the FHA commissioner, said that without the proposed legislation, Congress would have to be called on to authorize an additional $2,000,000,000 for the FHA to carry on its regular mortgage insurance program for another year.

In view of that, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) commented that actually "the additional impact" of the defense housing bill would amount to only about $1,000,000,000.

Although Foley said there would only be limited use for the big program for the time being, he told the committee it "would be most unwise not to establish now the necessary authority to meet fully, effectively and promptly" all foreseeable housing needs arising from the rearmament drive.

China, France, Britain, the U. S. and Russia hold veto power in the UN.

How About It, Pard?

Gun-toting Patrick Edwards can now stand firmly on his two-year-old legs and fight his way to a normal, healthy boyhood. Pat was struck down by polio at his home in Ionia, Mich., during the record-breaking 1949 epidemic. Polio is one of the world's costliest diseases and in three years the nation has suffered its three worst epidemics. Patient care alone has cost $58,000,000 in three years. The 1951 March of Dimes will give a fighting chance to those who still need help.

Seven Injured In Ship Blaze

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17.—(P)—The old troopship which took Woodrow Wilson to Europe in 1918 was gutted last night by a raging 8-alarm fire that swept Baltimore's south waterfront and injured seven persons.

The flames, swept by 40-mile winds, also destroyed a $5,000,000 empty ammunition pier, and burned a large tug and barges of equipment collected for work on the Chesapeake bay bridge.

None of the seven was reported hurt seriously. One fireman was burned on the arm, two were bruised when tossed back by a minor explosion and a fourth was treated for shock after he fell off the blazing pier. A fifth person, a coast guardsman, fell from the upper deck of his boat while manning a hose.

The 40-year-old transport George Washington caught fire shortly after flames swept down the 1,000-foot timber pier from a small blaze in a shack at the head of the pier.

A tug trying to nose in between the burning pier and the George Washington caught fire itself and had to be abandoned.

Later efforts freed the ship and a sister transport, the Gen. Edmund B. Alexander. The Alexander was towed to safety in a nearby cove and did not catch fire.

Both Vessels Out Of Use

Both the old vessels had been decommissioned.

It was on the George Washington which President Wilson traveled at the end of World War I to attend the Versailles peace conference.

Claim Payments Made Cusack

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 17.—(P)—An official of the Columbian Steel Tank Co., testified Tuesday payments totaling more than $9,000 were made to Joseph F. Cusack to obtain lower county tax assessments.

Jeremiah T. Brosnan, company comptroller, testified at the income tax evasion trial of George R. Clark, former Jackson county assessor. He said the payments were for a 3-year period from 1944 through 1946. He added that Cusack was employed through 1948.

The official's testimony covered parts of the years in which Clark was county assessor. Defense attorneys objected to the testimony because they said no link between the payments to Cusack and Clark was established by the government.

sounded for the spectacular blaze.

At 9 p. m., the danger of further spread of the flames seemed past, but an all night fire lighting up the waterfront was in prospect.

John F. Mitchell, special assistant to the attorney general, told Judge Albert L. Reeves that he would offer evidence later connecting the two men. Judge Reeves reserved ruling.

Tuesday's evidence followed testimony Monday that Cusack, an insurance agent, received more than $63,000 from two other firms from 1944 through 1948, after their assessments were reduced.

It is the second time the new service insurance proposal has been reported favorably by the committee. It passed the House without a dissenting vote in the closing days of the last Congress, but not in time for the Senate to act on it.

The bill gives automatic $10,000 indemnity policies to all servicemen now or in the future on active duty.
